Adobe Reports Record Online Spending of $9.8 Billion by Black Friday Shoppers

US Holiday Shopping Reflects Consumer Resilience Amid Dwindling Pandemic Savings and High Interest Rates

Black Friday proved to be a boon for online retailers in the US as shoppers set a new record by spending $9.8 billion, according to Adobe Analytics. This surge in online spending provides a positive signal for retailers grappling with subdued sales forecasts for the holiday season. The 7.5 percent increase in online sales compared to the previous year was primarily driven by strong demand for electronics, smartwatches, TVs, and audio equipment. Consumers also expanded their budgets by embracing buy-now, pay-later options, which saw a remarkable 72 percent increase from the week before Thanksgiving.

This upswing indicates a recovery from the challenges faced during the previous holiday season, marked by high inflation affecting consumers' purchasing power and retailers resorting to significant discounts to clear excess inventory. In the current year, holiday shopping serves as a gauge for US consumer resilience amid diminishing pandemic-era savings and persistently high interest rates, which have now reached levels not seen in over two decades.

A separate gauge by Salesforce Inc. reveals a 9 percent year-on-year growth in US online sales, with notable contributions from footwear, sporting goods, health, and beauty products. The most significant discounts were observed in clothing, home, and beauty categories.

As companies eagerly await data on brick-and-mortar sales, online sales in the days leading up to Cyber Monday on November 27 provide an early indication of holiday-season performance. However, initial forecasts for November and December point to sluggish sales growth. Salesforce predicts a modest 1 percent growth in online sales during this period compared to 2022, representing the slowest pace in at least five years. Adobe, on the other hand, anticipates a 4.8 percent revenue growth, significantly below the pre-pandemic average annual rate of 13 percent. It's worth noting that the two companies analyze different transactions, accounting for the variance in their reported numbers.

Meanwhile, Shopify Inc., a Canada-based e-commerce marketplace, reported a global Black Friday sales increase of 22 percent, driven by strong performances in clothing, personal care, and jewelry categories.

Sharjah Shopping Extravaganza Set to Commence on December 15 Featuring Discounts and Entertainment

The Sharjah Chamber of Commerce and Industry (SCCI) officially declared the commencement of Sharjah Shopping Promotions 2023 on Sunday. This 37-day extravaganza is slated to unfold in malls, tourist spots, and various venues throughout the emirate, captivating visitors and residents alike from December 15 to January 20, 2024.

The SCCI has extended invitations to all shopping centers and commercial stores in Sharjah to partake in this significant event. The initiative presents a unique opportunity for participants to expand their businesses, enhance revenues, and showcase their diverse products to a wide array of shoppers and foreign visitors.

Organized by the SCCI in collaboration with various government agencies focused on economic affairs, Sharjah Shopping Promotions holds considerable importance for the retail sector and associated industries. It coincides with the holiday season, peak tourism activity, and the UAE's hosting of numerous global and regional events. Throughout the 37-day span, this commercial and tourism extravaganza aims to provide Sharjah's residents and visitors with a world-class shopping and entertainment experience tailored to meet their needs and expectations. The program is brimming with promotions, substantial discounts on a variety of products and global brands, and winter festivities hosted by renowned tourism destinations, landmarks, and prominent shopping centers across the emirate.

Sharjah Shopping Promotions will also feature an array of offers and prizes in shopping malls throughout the emirate, adding an extra layer of excitement to the event. Mohammed Ahmed Amin Al Awadi, the Director-General of the SCCI, emphasized the significance of Sharjah Shopping Promotions in the emirate's annual calendar of commercial and entertainment festivities. As a premier event organized by the Chamber, it presents a significant opportunity to solidify Sharjah's global standing as an internationally renowned shopping destination. Additionally, it contributes to advancing the retail sector, stimulating commercial market activity, and fostering sustainable growth in the emirate.

Saudi Arabia Allows Private Sector Employees to Hold Two Jobs

Saudi Arabia has recently taken steps to regulate its job market and enhance its appeal and competitiveness. The Ministry of Human Resources in the kingdom has announced that private sector workers are now allowed to have dual employment.

The ministry emphasized that for a worker to engage in two jobs simultaneously, it is essential to examine the employment contract and the regulations of the employing organization to ensure there are no clauses restricting holding two jobs.

In recent years, Saudi Arabia has been actively working to streamline its job market, aiming to boost its overall attractiveness and competitiveness.

Earlier this year, the Ministry of Human Resources introduced an authentication plan through its Qiwa platform. This plan requires private sector institutions to document 20 percent of their employees' contracts in the first quarter of 2023, 50 percent in the second half, and 80 percent in the third quarter. The goal of this initiative is to protect the rights of the parties involved in the contractual relationship, create a stable labor environment conducive to increased employee productivity, and enhance the overall job market in the kingdom.

In 2020, Saudi Arabia implemented significant labor reforms, particularly in its sponsorship system. These reforms, effective in the following year, facilitated job mobility and regulated the issuance of exit and re-entry visas for expatriate workers without the need for employers' approval.

The labor reforms allowed expatriate workers to switch between employers upon the expiration of their binding work contracts, eliminating the need for the employer's consent. Additionally, the exit and re-entry visa reforms permitted expatriate workers to travel outside Saudi Arabia without requiring approval from their employers, following the submission of a request.

Saudi Arabia, with a population of approximately 32.2 million people, is home to a substantial community of foreign migrants.

Bagnaia Clinches Stylish MotoGP Title Defense While Martin Suffers Crash

Valencia: Francesco Bagnaia of Italy celebrated a perfect day, successfully defending his MotoGP world title and securing victory in the season's final race at Valencia on Sunday.

The 26-year-old Ducati rider had already clinched the championship as his only contender, Jorge Martin, crashed early in the race. At the time of the incident, Bagnaia was leading on his Ducati, unaware that Martin's Ducati-Pramac had collided with Marc Marquez's Honda, resulting in both riders crashing.

Martin, frustrated, walked away shaking his hands, while Marquez, a six-time champion, limped away in his final race for Honda.

Emotional scene in the pitlane Martin returned to the pitlane, where he broke into tears and was comforted by his team members. Despite a strong start, moving from sixth on the grid to second and pressuring Bagnaia, Martin's race took a turn for the worse when he clipped Bagnaia's bike on the second lap, dropping to eighth place.

A few laps later, Martin faced another setback, and the title was handed to 26-year-old Bagnaia.

Bagnaia's flawless race Bagnaia, riding flawlessly, regained the lead after Jack Miller's spectacular crash. Despite a challenge from last week's Qatar victor, Fabio Di Giannantonio, Bagnaia maintained his composure and crossed the finish line, jubilantly raising his arms.

After dismounting, Bagnaia celebrated by slam dunking a basketball and adorning three gold rings onto his fingers.

This marks the second consecutive year that Bagnaia has secured the title on the final day, with Martin narrowing his lead to just 14 points the day before with a victory in the sprint race.

Max Verstappen Concludes Historic Formula 1 Season with Victory in Abu Dhabi Grand Prix

Verstappen's Triumph: A Spectacular Finale to F1 Season

Max Verstappen capped off an extraordinary Formula 1 season with a record-breaking 19th win at the Abu Dhabi Grand Prix. The Red Bull driver, already crowned 2023 champion, led from pole to secure victory in the 58-lap race at Yas Marina.

Verstappen's dominance, with only three defeats in the 23-race season, solidified his position as one of the sport's greats. The Abu Dhabi GP marked his 54th career win, surpassing Sebastian Vettel and securing third place in all-time winners.

Despite teammate Sergio Perez's penalty, Red Bull narrowly missed the Constructors' title, with Mercedes clinching second place by three points. Verstappen's emotional in-lap highlighted the end of a remarkable season, leaving fans eager for the next chapter in F1.
